

REGISTRATION NOW OPEN!

SONIA KOVALEVSKY DAY 2019

Saturday
April 6

REGISTER
BY MARCH 15th

for a day filled with interactive presentations, fun math games, and panels of professionals with math-related jobs! Win prizes, and receive a t-shirt, certificate, breakfast, and lunch.

What? The 14th Annual Sonia Kovalevsky High School Mathematics Day organized by the University of Iowa Department of Mathematics

Who? High school aged women, their educators, and parents or guardians

When? Saturday, April 6, 2019

Where? The University of Iowa

How much does it cost? Nothing!

Why? To encourage young women's interest in math and science with the hope that they will continue to study and ultimately to pursue careers in these fields

Who is Sonia Kovalevsky? Sonia Kovalevsky was a renowned mathematician, writer, and advocate for women's rights in the 19th century

This year, discover how MATH CONNECTS us all through collaboration and interdisciplinary research.

LEARN MORE AND REGISTER AT OUR WEBSITE:

math.uiowa.edu/diversity-and-outreach/sonia-kovalevsky-high-school-mathematics-day

Contacts & Organizers:

Michael Kratochvil (michael-kratochvil@uiowa.edu)

Amrei Oswald (amrei-oswald@uiowa.edu)

Sara Reed (sara-j-reed@uiowa.edu)

Professor Tong Li (tong-li@uiowa.edu)

Supported by

Office of Outreach and Engagement